

Cheese Sculptures Galore At The New York State Fair

Where: 581 State Fair Blvd. [\[map\]](#), Syracuse, NY, United States, 13209
August 25, 2009 at 4:29 PM | by egw | 1 Comment

The New York State Fair's dairy building is turning 100, and organizers are milking it for all it's worth: The fair will feature a cheese carver to make a special display of state pride when it opens Thursday.

Sarah Kaufmann has both a super unique job and daily temptations; the Wisconsin-based (of course!) sculptor works exclusively in cheese, including a 600-pound model of the U.S.S. Ronald Reagan and, earlier this summer, a lactose version of Neil Armstrong.

For the New York State Fair, Kaufmann will use New York products to create a horse-drawn milk wagon, a dairy cow and a layered birthday cake along with other dairy-themed imagery. Visit her flavorful display starting Saturday, August 29 at 10am, with a special "Dairy Day" planned for Monday the 31st. Just try not to take a bite.

Related Stories:

- Try 130 Cheeses At The Hilton Maldives [HC]
- AFAR Travel Magazine Promises More Than The Expected [Jaunted]
- Deep-Fried Madness: It's State Fair Season [Jaunted]

Photo of a holiday-themed cheese cow by Kaufmann: [SarahCheeseLady.com]

1 Comment

Post a Comment

Return to » Cheese Sculptures Galore At The New York State Fair

1. Facebook User

Jaunted Contributing Editor

just as i was going to give up cheese

here comes Dairy Day. thankfully, im in California. far, far, far from the temptation. still, i can't promise i wont attack a block of Tillamook cheddar cheese after my next trip to the grocery store.

August 25, 2009 at 8:56 PM

 [Reply to This ] #Permalink delete suppress